

SMP NEGERI 1 TUREN

Kindness Towards Diferences

Presented by Inis Unsaroh, S.Pd

THE MONKEY AND THE DOLPHIN

One day long ago, some sailors set out to sea in their sailing ship. One of them brought his pet monkey along for the long journey.

When they were far out at sea, a terrible storm overturned their ship. Everyone fell into the sea, and the monkey was sure that he would drown. Suddenly a dolphin appeared and picked him up.

They soon reached the island and the monkey came down from the dolphin's back. The dolphin asked the monkey, "Do you know this place?"

The monkey replied, "Yes, I do. In fact, the king of the island is my best friend. Do you know that I am actually a prince?"

Knowing that no one lived on the island, the dolphin said, "Well, well, so you are a prince! Now you can be a king!" The monkey asked, "How can I be a king?"

As the dolphin started swimming away, he answered, "That is easy. As you are the only creature on this island, you will naturally be the king!"

MORAL : Those who lie and boast may end up in trouble.

Miss Helen

"THE MONKEY AND THE CROCODILE"

Once upon a time, there lived a monkey on a apple tree. The apples were a bright red color and extremely juicy. One day, a crocodile came to the tree and asked the monkey some apples. The monkey was glad to help. He even gave the crocodile some apples to take home for his wife. When his wife tasted the monkey's, heart. She asked him to invite the monkey for lunch at their place where she would kill the monkey and eat his heart. The crocodile became very sad. Finally he promised her to bring the monkey tomorrow. The next day, when he went to the shore, he invited the monkey to his home. The monkey gladly accepted. He sat on the crocodile's back and they started their journey. When they reached the middle of the water, the crocodile started sinking low and told the monkey of his plan. The monkey did not lose his presence of mind and said that he had left his heart on the tree and that the crocodile would have to take him back. The foolish crocodile took him back to the shore. At once, the monkey leaped on the tree and told the crocodile that he was the biggest fool on the planet and the monkey had made a mistake in trusting him.

The Lion and the Mouse

Once upon a time, in a vast and sunny savanna, there lived a mighty lion named Leo. Leo was the king of the jungle, feared and respected by all the animals. One afternoon, after a hearty meal, Leo decided to take a nap under a large, shady tree.

As Leo slept, a tiny mouse named Mia scurried by. Mia was in a hurry to gather food for her family and didn't notice the sleeping lion. She accidentally ran over Leo's paw, waking him up with a start. Roaring with anger, Leo trapped Mia under his massive paw.

"How dare you wake me!" Leo growled. "I could crush you in an instant!"

Terrified, Mia pleaded, "Please, mighty Leo, spare my life! If you let me go, I promise I will repay your kindness one day."

Leo laughed at the thought. "A tiny mouse like you, helping the king of the jungle? That's impossible. But your bravery amuses me. I will let you go."

Mia thanked Leo profusely and scampered away.

A few days later, as Leo was wandering through the savanna, he got caught in a hunter's net. He roared and struggled, but the more he fought, the tighter the net became. Hearing his roars, Mia ran to the scene.

Without hesitation, Mia began to gnaw at the ropes of the net with her sharp little teeth. She worked tirelessly until finally, the net broke apart, and Leo was free.

Leo looked at Mia with gratitude and surprise. "I never thought a small mouse could help me," he said. "You have taught me a valuable lesson today."

Mia smiled and said, "Even the smallest creature can make a big difference. Kindness and help can come from the most unexpected places."

From that day forward, Leo and Mia became the best of friends. Leo learned to respect all creatures, no matter their size, and the savanna was a happier place for everyone.

Moral of the story:**

No act of kindness, no matter how small, is ever wasted.

The Greedy King

King Midas was very greedy. One day when he was sitting and counting his wealth, an angel appeared. She asked the king his desire. The king said, "I want to be the richest in the world". The angel smiled and said, "OK! I give you a golden touch. Whatever you will touch will turn into gold". The king jumped with joy. The angel disappeared. Happily the king touched his bed, furniture, clothes, food and water. They all changed into gold. But now, he could neither eat nor drink. By mistake he touched his daughter. She also became a statue of gold. Now the king became sad.

He began to weep. He begged pardon of the angel.

The angel appeared again and took her wish back. She asked the king to sprinkle the water of a river on everything. The king did so and all the things turned as they were before. The king learned a good lesson.

Moral : Never be greedy. Be satisfied with what you have.

A WISE JUDGE

O a golden necklace was lost from a rich man's house. A few servants worked in that house. Naturally it was suspected that any one of the servants had stolen the necklace. Each of them was asked. But nobody confessed the guilt.

So, the master of the house lodged a complaint before the Judge. All of the servants were summoned to the court. But all of the servants denied the charge.

Then the Judge hit upon a plan. He gave each of them a stick of same length and told them to submit them to the court the following day. He told them that the person who had stolen the necklace, his stick would increase an inch. When they returned home, they kept their sticks as they were. But the servant who stole the stick shortened it by an inch. The next day when everybody submitted the sticks, it was found that one stick was short by an inch. Then the thief was detected and he was given punishment.

MORAL : Truth is always revealed.

The Lion and the Mouse

Once in a forest, a lion was sleeping under a tree after a big meal. A little mouse came by and started playing on the lion's back.

The lion woke up, very angry. He caught the mouse and was about to eat it.

"Please don't eat me!" the mouse cried. "I'll help you one day."

The lion laughed but let the mouse go.

A few days later, the lion was caught in a hunter's net. He roared for help.

The little mouse heard the roar and ran to help. It chewed the net with its tiny teeth and set the lion free.

The lion was very happy. From that day, the lion and the mouse became good friends.

Moral: Even the small can help the strong

THE MAGIC PORRIDGE POT

Once, there was a little girl named Tara. She lived with her mother. They were very poor.

One day she went to a forest. There she met an old woman. The old woman gave her a pot. She said, "This is a magic pot. It will cook porridge for you when you say, 'Cook-Pot-Cook'. It will stop making porridge when you say, 'Stop-Pot-Stop'."

Tara was very happy. She ran to her mother and said, "Mother, we will no longer be hungry as I have got a magic pot."

Tara said to the pot, "Cook-Pot-Cook" and the pot cooked porridge. Her mother was very happy and they both ate porridge.

One day, when Tara had gone out, her mother felt hungry. She said to the pot, "Cook-Pot-Cook." The pot started cooking porridge.

Jim and the Old Lady

Jim was a poor boy, He was 11 years old and had no parents. He cleaned shoes to earn a little money. He hardly had enough food to eat.

One cold night, Jim was eating his small meal. Suddenly, an old lady knocked on his door.

She looked tired and hungry.

Jim had only one piece of bread, but he saw that she needed it more.

He gave his bread to the old lady.

She smiled and said, "Thank you, kind boy."

As she walked away, she turned into a bright angel! She was so happy with Jim's kindness that she gave him lots of food and gold.

From that day, Jim never went hungry again.

THANK YOU

